CHICAGO (AP) — The President of the American Bar Association today urged that Congress be asked to curb what he called a grab for power by federal administrative agencies that is slowing down the nation's economy.

Sylvester M. Smith Jr., Newark, N. J., also urged America's lawyers to work for tighter enforcement of the criminal law enforcement and to act more swiftly in matters involving civil rights.

"There is ever indication that the federal administrative agencies are again reaching out for power, extending beyond the intended delegation granted by Congress," he said at the AMA's 86th annual meet.

"I have grave doubt that the top executive leaders are fully aware of the grabs for power but the citizens are aware and alarmed."

He added, "If the bar is to go forward there must be a uniform concept of the rule of law. The rule of law cannot mean one thing to one group and something else to another."

Wall Shows Horror of Communism

EDITORS NOTE—The author of this article is one of the hundreds of East German who have escaped to the West despite the Berlin wall, barbed wire mine fields and trigger-happy guards. On the eve of the second anniversary of the wall she recalls her life behind it and the reasons people risk their lives to escape. She uses a pseudonym to protect her family and friends still in East Germany.

By KATERINA THOMAS

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—I lived for 16 months behind the Berlin wall. Except for the year my husband spent in jail during the height of Stalinist frenzy back in 1952-53, they were my worst months under communism.

Eight months ago my husband and I managed to escape. It meant leaving a large family home and garden where we had spent 24 happy married years. It meant leaving behind almost everything we owned, including the worthless sentimental things a woman treasures. It meant leaving friends with whom we shared hard and unforgettable years.

It was a sacrifice and a great risk. Other people might still escape by the route we took so I won't go into details.

But we read every few days of the dangers people run to escape. They scale the Berlin wall in a hall of bullets. They swim the icy Havel River in freezing weather. They crawl through tunnels that might cave at any moment or run across mine fields that could blow them up at any step. Some are killed by Communist border guards.

What drives people to gamble their lives in order to leave their homes?

It might sound strange to American ears, but I'm sure the chief reason is the longing for freedom to think and do what one wants. The simple freedoms that Americans take for granted are worth a life to many East Germans.

It is simply that after a while you can't breathe any more. You are too restricted. Your ideas count for nothing if they do not agree with those of the Communists. Your individual wishes are ignored. A person's individuality and freedom count for nothing. This is what people learn to hate. This is why they leave.

What did I personally dislike most? I think it was the way children were treated.

Probably more parents leave East Germany for the sake of their children than for any other reason.

I clearly remember Aug. 13, 1961. For years my husband and I felt we should stay in East Germany. One has a responsibility to one's home and people, and problems are not solved by running away.

But we had finally decided to flee and our two children had already gone to the West. We planned to follow after a short vacation in a health resort. There we heard the news of Aug. 13.

Our hearts sank. Our escape route was blocked. It took nearly two years to find a way out.

The one good the wall did was to wake people to the horror of communism.

Negro Quits as Student at Alabama U.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The withdrawal of Negro student James A. Hood from the University of Alabama could mean the end of his brief career as a student at the school following his stormy enrollment two months ago.

Hood's attorney announced the withdrawal and said the 20-year-old Gadsden, Ala., student was dropping out because of his physical and mental condition.

The university confirmed Hood's withdrawal Sunday and announced that a meeting of the board of trustees called to consider charges resulting from a speech Hood made in Gadsden July 16 had been canceled.

University officials had sent a letter to Hood notifying him of the charges against him and asking him to be present before the dean of men at 2 p.m. today.

The letter stipulated these charges: —That Hood accused the university of a conspiracy in setting up a news conference for him in an attempt to violate a rule against student news conferences. The rule was imposed when he was admitted to the university with another Negro student, Vivian J. Malone, 20.

—That Hood accused university officials of attempting to keep a faculty member from giving him an "A."

—That Hood accused a state official of cursing him in a dormitory.

A trustee who would not be identified said that in his opinion the charges against Hood could be grounds for refusal of the university to admit him for the fall term, which begins Sept. 20.

The trustee said that Hood still would be subject to a hearing before any decision would be made concerning his readmittance.

Hood's attorney, Arthur Shores of Birmingham, said the Negro student has been advised to avoid routine duties and activity until his condition is improved "in order to avoid a complete mental and physical breakdown."

The two Negro students were enrolled in summer school two months ago despite efforts by Gov. George Wallace to stop them by standing in the doorway at the admissions building.

Wallace permitted the enrollment when federalized National Guard troops escorted the Negro students to the building. He was unavailable for comment on Hood's withdrawal.

He Was Thinking About the Return

JACKSON Wyo. (AP) — Among a group of Sherpa mountaineers who visited northwestern Wyoming Sunday was Nawang Gombu, who reached the summit of Mt. Everest last spring along with the first Americans to climb the world's highest peak.

One small admirer asked Gombu what he was thinking about when he stood at the rooftop of the world.

His answer: "How to get down."

Rusk Launches Pact Approval Bid in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk goes to Capitol Hill today to launch the Kennedy administration's campaign for quick Senate approval of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Less than 24 hours after his return from Europe, Rusk goes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to urge approval of the pact he signed a week ago in Moscow.

Members of the Armed Services and Senate-House Atomic Committees will sit in with the foreign relations group to hear his testimony.

Rusk and President Kennedy conferred by telephone for about 25 minutes Sunday shortly after the secretary arrived in Washington. They will meet at the White House late today as soon as the President returns from Cape Cod. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will be on hand for the meeting.

Kennedy also called Democratic congressional leaders to the White House for a later conference.

Rusk, who met Friday with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, told newsmen that the next round of U.S.-Soviet negotiations "will not move with great speed." It was learned, however, that he came back with the impression that the Soviet leader wants to carry on talks with the United States to ease tensions in Europe.

Rusk made clear that he will explain to the Senate committee the assurances he gave West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that the treaty in no way implies recognition of Communist East Germany by the United States or other Western allies.

Only a few hours after Rusk testifies, Dr. Edward Teller tells the Senate Preparedness subcommittee behind closed doors why he opposes the cessation of testing in the atmosphere outer space and under the sea. Teller played a key role in development of the H-bomb.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman said he was confident Khrushchev will abide by the treaty "to avoid the risks of a nuclear war."

"I know every one feels that the Russians break all their agreements," Harriman said Sunday in a taped television interview. "They have kept those in which their interests are involved and I think they are going to keep this one."

Senate Pays Tribute to Kefauver

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate adjourns today as a mark of respect for Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Tennessee Democrat with the big handshake who died Saturday.

The quiet-spoken lawyer who battled organized crime and monopolies during his 24 years in Congress will be buried Tuesday in the family cemetery near the Kefauver farm home at Madisonville, Tenn.

A military plane will carry Kefauver's body to Tennessee Tuesday morning. Mrs. Kefauver, their children and a congressional delegation will be aboard another plane.

The senator's body will lie in state at the First Baptist Church in Madisonville, for four hours before the simple mid-afternoon services at the farm. The services will be conducted on the porch of the family home.

An estimated 500 persons paid their respects Sunday at a Washington funeral home to the tall Tennesseean who was the 1956 Democratic vice presidential candidate on the ticket headed by Adlai E. Stevenson. Kefauver had sought the presidential nomination that year and in 1952.

The senator died of a ruptured aorta, the main artery from the heart. He had entered Bethesda Naval Hospital Thursday night after suffering what aides described as a mild heart attack.

Informing on Cape Cod of Kefauver's death, President Kennedy said the senator was "a public servant of energy, integrity and talent. His devotion to the public interest made him a powerful influence for good in our nation's affairs."

Kefauver's death leave the Senate lineup at 66 Democrats, 33 Republicans. He had served five terms in the House before election to the Senate in 1948.

Gov. Frank Clement, a Democrat, will appoint a successor to serve until next year's general election.

Tip in Train Robbery May Help Police

LONDON — An informer's tip sent detectives combing London's sleazy East End today for five criminals reported missing from their homes since history's greatest train robbery.

No arrests were made, but Scotland Yard posted a watch at each of the five addresses.

About 15 masked men halted the Glasgow-London mail train Thursday and made off with bags of registered mail worth more than $7 million.

Most of the loot was old currency being returned to London for destruction.

Police were convinced that most of the gang must still be in Britain. The precision with which the gang worked aroused speculation that the master mind was a former military man.

Spurred by reward offers totaling 260,000 pounds ($720,000), hundreds of Britons called police stations, claiming to have information that might help the police.

The ill-fated train, on its 400-mile journey from Scotland, was halted by a false red stop light. The bandits uncoupled the locomotive and first two mail coaches moved them down the line and rifled them.

President, Visits Mrs. Kennedy

By FRANCES LEWIN

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy today brought his two children to the hospital again, along with the family dog, Charley, to see Mr. John F. Kennedy.

Caroline and little John Jr. were carrying chewing gum in their hands as they went inside for another cher-up visit with their mother.

Mrs. Kennedy is recovering after the birth of a third child who lived less than two days.

The President brought them by helicopter.

John Jr., striding manfully, look around with some wonderment at the reporters and cameramen, and the airmen clustered at attention.

Sunday, the President brought them on separate visits, the first they had made to their mother since she was rushed to the hospital last Wednesday.

Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, Pamela Turnure, said the First Lady had been cheered by their earlier visit, and did not seem to be a bit tired after they all went home Sunday night.

She continues to be making an excellent recovery from the Caesarean birth.

Sunday night, John Jr. watched photographers' flashing lights as he visited his mother's hospital suite.

Committee Gets Dillon's Plan for a Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon put before the House Ways and Means Committee today a proposal for an $11-billion tax cut in two steps beginning Jan. 1.

Individual tax rates would range from 14 per cent on the first $500 of income to a 70 per cent top. The present range is 20 on the first $2,000 to a top of 91. Corporate income taxes would be reduced from the present 52 per cent to 48 per cent.

Dillon's proposals were presented at a closed meeting of the committee. Dillon declined to tell newsmen about them, but other sources filled in some details.

Since tax revisions already approved by the committee and expected to be approved would result in an increase of something over $1 billion a year in revenue, the net effect if the Treasury-prepared rate schedules were accepted would be a reduction of something between $9 billion and $10 billion when the new provisions are fully effective.

It was understood the proposal is to put two-thirds of the individual cut into effect Jan. 1, the remainder a year later.

This would mean a slightly smaller tax cut eventually than President Kennedy originally proposed, but probably a greater immediate reduction.

The committee is nearing the end of its work on a tax bill that is expected to go to the House for consideration early in September.

One member said the Treasury proposals appeared to be well received and were likely to represent fairly closely the ultimate committee action.

Raps Critics of U.S. Space Program

By HOWARD BENEDICT

AP Aerospace Writer
BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — A government scientist today challenged critics who want more emphasis on space weapons development, saying the present U.S. space program is laying a broad base for both scientific and military operations.

Homar E. Newell, director of space science for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said:

"Those who argue that we should dispense with the frills of science and space exploration and concentrate on the necessities of military development, forget that we can't really say what the military necessities in space will be and it would be foolhardy to pretend that we can."

In a speech prepared for an artificial satellite conference at Virginia Polytechnic Institute here, Newell said:

"We do not wish to develop a Maginot Line in space, only to have it flanked by forces of greater flexibility. We need to develop in a broad way our space capability so that we will have the ability to move in any direction required by future events to meet any threats along whatever lines might develop."

Newell's defense of the space program came at a time when many defense officials and some congressmen are taking a closer look at military needs in space.

Major military space efforts are aimed at development of reconnaissance satellites by the Air Force, communications satellites by the Army, and navigation satellites by the Navy.

The Air Force is training astronauts for NASA's two-man Project Gemini orbital and rendezvous flights. Later, Air Force astronauts will fly Gemini capsules modified for military missions and the Dyna-Soar manned space glider.

Advocates of a strong military program think the United States should be working on spacecraft to spy on enemy satellites and destroy them if they are carrying nuclear bombs. Some say this nation should develop orbiting nuclear bombs of its own.

Middle age is when you can do everything you used to but not until tomorrow.

Hurst Trial Continues at Hot Springs

By LEN TALIAFERRO

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A former Internal Revenue Service agent testified today that he could not remember ever having examined an income tax return filed by state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs.

John Olson of Detroit, Mich., business manager of the Detroit Free Press, said he was an IRS agent from immediately after World War II until 1951, when he joined the staff of the Arkansas Gazette.

Last week in Hurst's income tax evasion trial in federal District Court, Hurst's former accountant, James J. Dowds, testified that an IRS agent examined Hurst's tax return for 1951 and found nothing wrong with it.

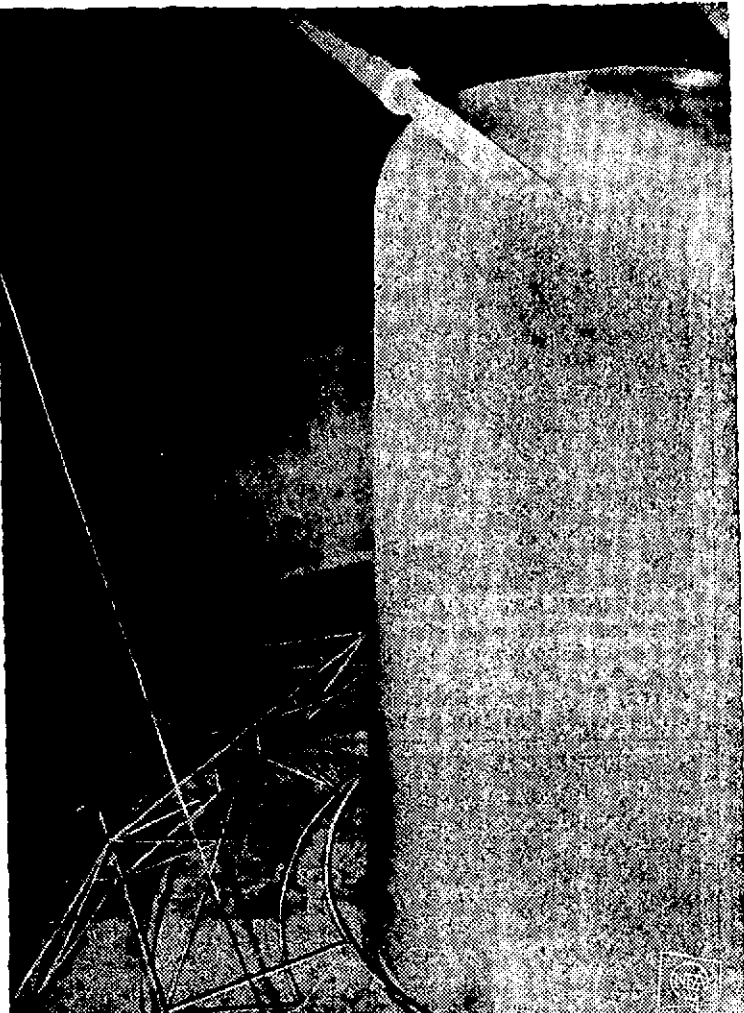

Dowds said he could not remember the agent's name, but that the agent had left the IRS to become general manager of the West Coast edition of the New York Times.

After leaving the Gazette, Olson spent six months with the Times in New York, then went to Los Angeles to become general manager of the Times' western edition.

Olson said under cross examination by defense attorney William A. Bowen, that while employed

150 Stricken in Michigan, Food Blamed

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — About 150 women were stricken with what hospitals called "suspected food poisoning" following a Sunday dinner at the nearby Orchard Lake schools near Pontiac, hospital authorities said.

Fifteen women remained this morning in hospitals in the Ontario cities of Paris and Brantford. Most of the other cases were diagnosed as mild and the patients were released after brief treatment.

The women, all over 50 years old, were among more than 800 who dined on the multiple-school campus following Marian Day exercises at which Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, spoke.

Fourteen victims were taken to Pontiac's St. Joseph Hospital by the IRS, he examined hundreds of returns and could not remember all of them.

He said he had been introduced to Hurst by Dowds and frequently had worked with Dowds in examining the returns of Dowds' clients.

Dowds represented tax payers when returns were examined.

Witnesses Tell About Hurst Deals

By LEN TALIAFERRO

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The government continued wading through Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst's complicated business and financial affairs Friday as four witnesses took the stand to testify about business dealings they had with Hurst.

Hurst's income tax evasion trial entered its fifth day in U. S. District Court and court sources estimated that it would run at least another week.

So far 71 government witnesses have testified. The trial was expected to recess at noon today for the weekend.

Of the four witnesses who appeared today, two were legal clients of Hurst and two were cattle salesmen.

Dr. Frank Riggall, a physician from Prairie Grove in Washington County, testified Thursday that he paid Hurst $1,000 for his services as an attorney in getting a bill amended in the 1957 legislature.

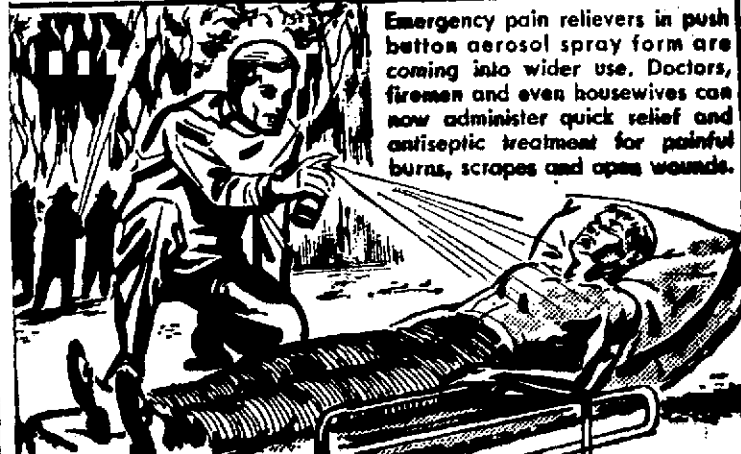

U.S. Atty Charles M. Conway introduced the check as part of an attempt to show that Hurst received legal fees that he failed to report on his income tax returns. Hurst is charged in federal District Court with evading $22,193 in taxes for the years 1956-59. His trial was expected to recess for the weekend today at noon.

Dr. Riggall, one of 33 government witnesses to testify Thursday, said the measure in question was House Bill 14, which regulated the practice of medicine. He said one provision would have prevented Prairie Grove's Elizabeth Hospital, of which he is chief of staff, from using graduate doctors from foreign lands who came to America for further study under the Fulbright Student Exchange Plan.

He said the bill also would have prevented foreign-trained, non-citizen doctors from being used on the staffs of the University Medical Center, the state Tuberculosis Sanatorium and the State Hospital.

Dr. Riggall said he asked Hurst for help because he couldn't get Washington, Madison or Benton county legislators to work to remove what he termed the detrimental features of the bill.

The doctor testified that Hurst told him he had discussed the matter with the legislative chairman of the Arkansas State Medical Society and had arranged "some moves."

"Mr. Hurst telephoned me on March 14 that he thought the measures were going to be satisfactory," Riggall said. "The pressure in the legislature had been great and he thought the corrective amendment was possibly going through and that as a result of the pressure, the governor would sign the bill."

Riggall said that to the best of his recollection, he told Hurst he was overjoyed and asked "what would satisfy him?"

"He said, 'Oh, whatever you think,' and I said, 'I will send you a thousand dollars,'" Riggall testified.

Hurst said during a recess that he didn't do any work on the bill in the legislature, but handled the matter through conferences with officials of the State Medical Society, which was promoting the bill.

Testimony of most of the other witnesses dealt with land dealings, insurance policies and expenses of Hurst's.

The government now has called 67 of the 150 witnesses expected to testify for the prosecution. It has presented 231 exhibits, including 75 Thursday. The exhibits include business papers, checks, mortgages and property deeds connected with Hurst's business transactions.

LYON, France (AP) — A French Viscount airliner with 12 passengers and four crew members aboard crashed near here today.

Air-Inter, which operates the domestic airline, said it did not know if there were any casualties.

The plane was flying from Lille in extreme northern France to Lyon, in the southeast. One report said the plane hit an electric pole and then struck a house.

Ambulances, first aid teams and firemen sped to the scene of the accident, about 15 miles from Lyon.

There were conflicting reports about the number aboard. One said the total was 12, but Air-Inter offices said it could not immediately supply exact information.

Rejoicing Over Treaty Is Not Wild

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — In this quiet summer more than half way through the 20th century, nations have so much confidence in one another they act like bank guards waiting for a stick-up.

Skepticism has become an instinct for survival, uneasiness a necessity, and suspicion as natural as breathing.

They operate on the theory that what looks good may be bad, what's quiet may be ominous, talk of peace could be a trick, what's true today may be wrong tomorrow.

With some pride President Kennedy Thursday sent the Senate—which is sure to approve—the limited nuclear test ban treaty signed this week with Russia.

"This is the first concrete result of 18 years of effort by the United States to impose limits on the nuclear arms race," he hoped, he said, it may lead to even better things.

But there was no wild rejoicing. There was gladness. At least this much progress between the two countries had been made. Yet, even as the two sides talk of other possible agreements, there is constant looking under the bed.

Even the most optimistic could not help wondering: Why at this time, but never in the past, was Soviet Premier Khrushchev willing to take this step which could, but may never at all and may have the opposite intention, lead to peace?

Khrushchev, with no more illusions about the West than the West has about him, is probably more tormented by concern about his huge Communist neighbor, Red China, than about American missiles.

The Chinese — increasingly dubious about the more affluent Russians, even about the dedication to communism — have been deriding and abusing them for months.

Both claim direct descent from Lenin but for opposite reasons. The Russians because they say peaceful coexistence is possible and the Chinese because they say it isn't.

This has its own historic hilarity, since Lenin was a man who wore two hats, being different things at different times and never always the same.

Before his Bolsheviks took over Russia, with him in charge, he was a hard-nosed, relentless, unyielding, uncompromising revolutionary extremist.

He switched and accommodated himself to necessities once he took charge and was responsible for making communism work. He became a compromiser. But this did not mean he ever lost his dedication to Communist conquest of the world.

He didn't. With him the end was never in question. It was just the means he changed to reach the end. In this sense no one outside Russia and China has any doubt but he is Leninist.

They've just split on tactics, not on purpose. Yet, as they march down the road together toward their common goal, each is afraid the other will try to dump it in the ditch.

They've fouled things up for Communists elsewhere. Around the world they're arguing among themselves about who's right.

Meanwhile, French President Charles de Gaulle has made his own contribution to the uneasiness of his allies.

His government says it doesn't distrust Kennedy's promise to protect Western Europe from attack but it doubts Kennedy's successor 10 years from now can be trusted to do the same.

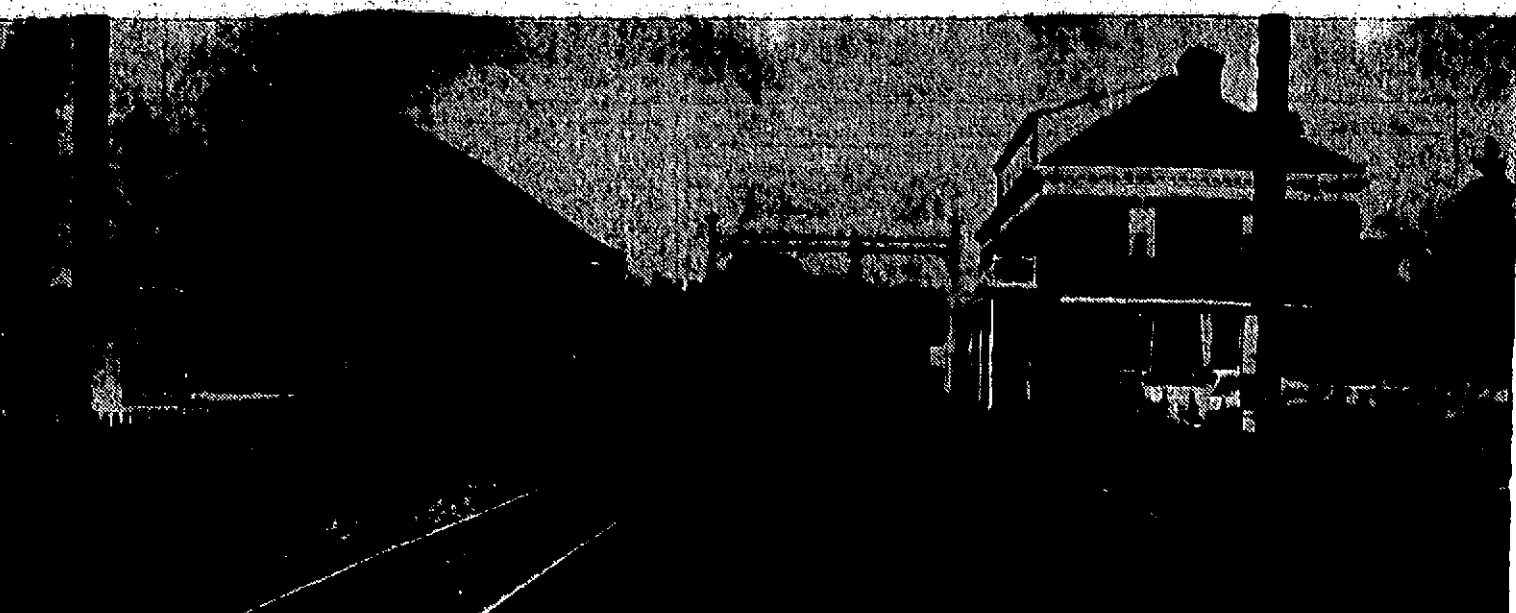

By this reasoning France says it must make nuclear weapons to protect itself—just in case—which is a chilling spectacle for all its neighbors and allies for the same reason the French gave about the United States.

While De Gaulle can be trusted, maybe his successor 10 years from now can't be.

$1,000 for U of A
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark (AP) — Former Arkansas congressman Brooks Hays, now a special assistant to President Kennedy, has donated $1,000 to the University of Arkansas Alumni Association. Hays received the money for an appearance on the Jack Paar show last March 29. The funds will go into the association trust and endowment fund.

ing her family and friends in McCaskill for the past three weeks. Her husband has been studying this summer at Ohio University on his masters degree.

SOLVING THE COMMUTING PROBLEM—After 20 years of commuting on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad between his home in Millburn, N.J., and his office in Newark, insurance man Frank G. Donnelly decided there had to be a better way to get to work. So he bought the two station buildings at Millburn, tore one down and built his own office next to the tracks (building on right). Part of the purchase deal was that he maintain station signs, ticket offices, waiting rooms and maintenance. Now Donnelly plans to replace the old station opposite and build another office building as a companion to the first. They will be connected by an already existing tunnel underneath the tracks. Everyone is happy: Donnelly, the erstwhile commuter; the train company, with two rundown stations off its hands; the public, who will get a brand-new station and will also benefit from taxes on the improved property.

DOROTHY DIX

CAN BAD SEED SPROUT GOOD YOUTH?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Does it follow that a son will be bad if his parents are no-goods? My father and mother have forbidden me to see my boy friend again just because they heard wild stories about him. I am almost 16 and he and I love each other deeply. How can I persuade them to give him a chance before passing judgment?

—Young and In Love

Dear Young: Good corn can't grow from bad seed and heredity and environment certainly have a strong bearing on what we will become in later life. I remember the advice of a wise doctor who said that if a young girl doesn't like her prospective in-laws, she'd better think twice about her prospective groom because she will find something of her in-laws in her children.

Bad environment alone does not necessarily destroy a child's chances for growth and development as a fine person.

It is possible for you at 16 to be "deeply in love," just as it is possible for a fingerling fish to be deeply submerged in six inches of water. What is "deep" to you now will seem shallow when you have had more living time. Your parents might be wrong about the true character of your boy friend, but they might be right. In view of their concern for you (and believe me, they know they aren't getting your vote in any popularity contest), you owe it to them to try their judgment, wait it out, and use your common sense.

If your boy friend is all-wool, he'll prove it to you, your parents and himself. Are you ready to risk teen-age marriage with a boy your parents aren't sure of? Think it over. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Are You Sure It's Love?"

Dear Helen: You've given me good advice before so here I am back for further help. I got a lawyer as you advised, sold my property and put the proceeds in my own name, but my husband continues to gamble, using any money of mine he can lay hands on.

Since he is seldom home, I have to be both father and mother to our 7-year-old son; so now I'm thinking in terms of separation or divorce. But there is the child and that worries me. Do you know of any cure for a chronic gambler? —Lone Wife

Dear Lone Wife: Chronic gambling is an illness like alcoholism and drug addiction. The cause is often so deeply rooted that only a psychiatrist can uncover it. There is a group called "Gamblers Anonymous," modeled on Alcoholics Anonymous which might help. Check your local telephone directory.

I'm sorry to say I know of no "cure" for gambling other than the total withdrawal of all funds. This, I realize, is almost an impossibility for a wife. As for separation or divorce, this is a matter to discuss with your minister and lawyer.

Dear Helen: Because my boy

U.S. Offers $50 Million to Slavs

BRDO, Yugoslavia (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman heads homeward to by his offer of $50 million in U.S. day from a visit to Communist country farming areas, climaxed aid to Yugoslavia.

Th money — half an outright grant and half a long-term loan — is to help rebuild the quake-shattered city of Skopje where more than 1,000 persons died and damage was estimated at $1.6 billion.

The offer will be financed with excess Yugoslav dinars piled up by the United States through the sale of surplus farm products to Yugoslavia.

Freeman made the offer after consultation with Washington, to Yugoslavia President Tito during a visit to Tito's stone villa her in the Julian Alps.

Freeman said Tito accepted and asked him to voice Yugoslav's appreciation for U.S. aid.

U.S. Willing to Extradite Jimenez

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States agreed today to extradite former Venezuelan President Perez Jimenez to face trial in that country for alleged embezzlement of more than $13 million.

The long-awaited U.S. action was taken by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. It is the first time any former chief of state has been ordered extradited.

He was president from 1952 to 1958.

Some further procedures may be necessary before Venezuelan deputies actually take Perez Jimenez back to Venezuela. State Department authorities said these are technicalities which will be cleared up quickly.

Perez has been in jail in Miami since Dec. 12, 1962, pending the outcome of Venezuela's request for extradition.

The Venezuelan government has charged Perez with embezzlement of more than $13 million.

Perez contended in a white paper his attorneys sent Rusk on June 13 that his safety could not be guaranteed in Venezuela because of Communist agitation and riots.

The report charged that Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt is personally and politically motivated in seeking Perez' removal to that country.

It also said there is a complete absence of human rights in Venezuela and promises of a fair trial there cannot be trusted.

Perez fled to the United States in 1958 from the Dominican Republic where he sought refuge after his overthrow by a civilian and military uprising.

Tangled With the Window

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When apartment house dwellers reported hearing a noise, police who responded had little difficulty in capturing a man they booked on suspicion of burglary. They said they found Larry Lopez, 33, trapped, his head stuck under a window that had slammed down upon him. When they added a second charge when they jailed him Sunday — drunkenness.

Ships Seeking Missing Plane

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — An international armada of eight planes and 18 ships resumed the search at dawn today for a missing Danish plane carrying 12 persons, now 40 hours overdue near Greenland's southernmost tip.

Hope of finding the plane that disappeared en route from Narsarsuaq to the naval base of Groennedal, dwindled as gale-like winds whipped up the seas off south Greenland.

The plane carried a crew of three, six civilian passengers and three naval men being transferred to the Groennedal base.

Won't Lower Lake
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Power & Light Co., says it will not lower the levels of Lake Hamilton or Lake Catherine near Hot Springs to repair the gates on Remmel and Carpenter dams. An AP&L spokesman said maintenance and repairs on the dams would be carried out as they have for many years, without the necessity of lowering the water level. The spokesman said it had been rumored that the lakes would be lowered.

BANCROFT'S BANCO
BY NELSON C. NYE

THE STORY: Benson is closing the deal on some horses which he will use as "props" in his plan to get free land in the Rio Grande valley.

VII
Then I saw his look tighten. A slyness crept into it. "If we're partners," he said, "it looks like to me I should get half of them checks."
I considered him, flabbergasted. Patiently I said: "The fact that we're partners is one thing. Shirl, we—"
"You can get around that. You told Finchbone I'm your boss. You can fix it up with him for me to draw—"
"He'd consider that mighty queer, I'm afraid. Besides," I said, "time we've paid for these horses I won't have more than $40 in the bank."
Dorris' cheeks grew dark. His eyes turned ugly. "All them big ideas," he snarled—"what you figgerin' to use for money?"
"Far as it will go I'm counting on using what I get for the cattle and broomstalls already on the ground." "I'd no intention of standing around arguing the matter. 'If it takes more than that,' I said, 'we'll borrow it.'"
The horses, as promised, were penned and waiting. Two fellows in range clothes, chewing and whittling, sat on the top rail of the nearest corral. Until I spoke they paid no visible attention to anything beyond the steady bite of their knives. I looked the stock over. "Either of you fellows connected with these horses?"
"What about 'em?" the younger one said, glancing up.
"If they're billed to Bancroft Benson they're mine."
The youngster—sandy-haired, blue-eyed and freckled—tossed down his stick, put away his knife and clasped both arms about a drawn up knee. "These here broncs, until they're paid for, is Three D's, according to what I been told. You Benson?"
"That's right," I nodded.
"You got anything to prove it?" I looked at the kid, and at the older hand with him. It got no change out of either one. "Shirl," I said, ignoring his scowl, "tell these fellows who I am."
"The youngster said, 'That wouldn't help none. I don't know him, either.'"
Unwinding the youngster dropped off his high perch, stepping around to the right of us. At the same time the other hand moved up on our left.
Even Dorris turned still.
The cold dread began to creep through my stomach, knowing Shirl's temper and the need bottled in him to strike out at something.
Blue Eyes said, watching both of us: "Expect my boss might not be too tickled, but these kind of

Fall Shows Wonderful at This Stage
By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The favorite indoor and poolside sport of this show business town now, as always in late summer, is predicting next season's hit television shows.
The community is full of self-proclaimed experts on the subject, and the most fascinating aspect of the game is that almost any body can be right.
After two weeks of visiting television sets, talking with producers, directors, stars, executives and, of course, press agents, I have been assured that every new series encountered undoubtedly will be a hit.
For what preseason talk is worth, there's a lot about the incoming NBC Bill Dana comedy series. By coincidence it will occupy the Sunday night spot vacated by "Ensign O'Toole," which received the same kind of talk last year at this time but survived for only one season.
CBS' "My Favorite Martian" also is a Sunday evening entry and the subject for particularly enthusiastic predictions. This is unusual in that it will attempt to marry fantasy and satire in a comedy. It concerns the adventures of a visitor from another planet who arrives equipped with built-in antennae and assorted powers including ability to become invisible at will.
The theory is that the kiddies will enjoy the magic and the adults appreciate the satire and everybody will be happy.
ABC and many of the crystal-ball gazers are expecting interesting response to "Burke's Law," an action series done in a debonair and sophisticated manner. It stars a millionaire man-about-town who is also a police detective.
A number of shows have been beset by production troubles. ABC's "Travels of Jaimie McPheeters" lost its producer by death; CBS removed the producer and took most of the writers off "The Judy Garland Show" after five shows had been taped; NBC's "Richard Boone Show," an anthology series, has been set back by the illness of playwright Clifford Odets, story editor of the series.
But until premier dates in September and October, the promise of each of the 32 new shows is bright.

Didn't Know of Gambling Butts Says

By DON MCKEE
ATLANTA (AP)—Wallace Butts, charged by a magazine with rigging a football game, testified today in federal court he had no knowledge of alleged gambling activities by two friends, one a business associate in a small loan firm.
He was asked about the telephone calls and his association with two persons on cross-examination after denying he had ever betrayed Georgia's football team by giving inside information to opposing coaches.
"Emphatically no," the stocky, graying Butts replied when asked if he had fed pre-game data on Georgia to Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama last fall.
Answering questions of an attorney for Curtis Publishing Co., Butts said he knew Frank Scooby of Chicago as a good friend who he met in the 1940s through Frank Leahy, then Notre Dame coach.
"Did you know that Mr. Scooby was a pretty big gambler?" asked Welborn B. Cody, chief counsel for Curtis, defending against a $10 million libel suit by Butts.
"This is the first time I knew..." answered Butts.
"How many times have you seen him in Chicago?"
"Many times... he is a very good friend."
Butts testified that Scooby helped arrange a $6,000 loan from the Exchange National Bank of Chicago for investing in small loan ventures.
In a state investigation of the rigging charges, published by the Curtis-owned Saturday Evening Post, Scooby was identified as president of a beer distributing firm in Chicago. Court records showed Scooby once gave testimony as a witness in a federal case that he had bet up to $50,000 with a gambling syndicate booking sports events.
Butts was asked about a man identified as Frank Childs of Macon, Ga., and associated with Butts in a small loan firm.
"Did you know that Mr. Frank Childs owned part interest in a gambling casino?" Cody asked.

"Absolutely not," Butts replied. He said the allegation had never been proved to him.
Butts attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., objected to Cody's questions which assumed the two men were gamblers, but he was overruled.
Questioned about a discrepancy as to when he said he resigned, Butts pointed a stubby finger at Cody and said indignantly, "I corrected that, Mr. Cody, and you know it."
Court recessed for the weekend after Butts testified.
Earlier, Schroder questioned Butts at length about the Post charges that he and the Alabama coach rigged last year's game.

Yanks Winning Ball Games in Late Stages

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not bad enough that the New York Yankees are making a run of the American League pennant race in their usual fashion, but now they've come up with a new gimmick: They're sending up their pinch hitters two or three times a game.

So you get him out the first time he comes up and the second or third time he kicks your head in. Unfair? Well, not quite.

Take Elston Howard and Hector Lopez. Howard went in to bat for Yogi Berra in the eighth inning of Sunday's game with the Los Angeles Angels and flied out in routine fashion. In the same inning Lopez batted for Al Downing and also flied out. No damage done.

But both of them stayed in the game.

So the Angels go into the ninth with a 4-1 lead and promptly retire the first two Yankees. But the next two draw walks and Howard comes up again. So Art Fowler comes on to face him. His first pitch lands in the left-field seats and it's a tie game.

So Lopez comes up again in the 10th with a runner on second and singles up the middle, driving in the tie-breaking run. He scored a second run a few minutes later on an Angel error.

So the Yankees with 6-4, extending their winning string to six, the Angels' losing string to seven and boosted the New York first-place margin over Chicago to nine full games.

The White Sox split a pair with Detroit, the Tigers winning the first 7-2 and the White Sox the second, 3-2 on Dave Nicholson's 18th homer of the season with one out in the 11th.

Minnesota closed to within a half game of the White Sox on the strength of their sixth straight victory, a 5-2 edge over Boston. While Cleveland edged Kansas City 2-1 and Baltimore beat Washington 6-2.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Philadelphia 5-1 and closed to within 3½ games of leading Los Angeles, 9-4 losers at Cincinnati. Pittsburgh nipped Houston 2-1. Milwaukee bombed St. Louis 9-1 and the Chicago Cubs and New York Mets split, the Cubs winning the opener 8-1 and the Mets the nightcap 11-4.

The Yankee victory at Los Angeles was their 19th in 25 games and their eighth in 10 extra-inning affairs this season. Howard's dramatic shot, his 23rd homer of the season, was the turning point.

In the 10th, winning pitcher Bill Stafford led off with a scratch single and went to second on Phil Linz sacrifice. Lopez followed with his run-scoring single and one out later scored on shortstop Jim Fregosi's error.

Don Mincher and Zoilo Versalles hit homers for the streaking Twins, and Camilo Pascual stopped Boston on five hits for his 14th victory. The Red Sox' Dick Stuart increased his league-leading home run total to 28 with a two-run shot in the sixth.

Tiger Mauls Fullmer to Retain Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Gene Fullmer, mauled, bruised and badly beaten in his effort to regain the world middleweight boxing title, returned to the United States to mull over the possibility of retirement.

"I have no plans for retiring and no plans for going on," Fullmer said Sunday night en route to his home in West Jordan, Utah. "I'm going home to talk it over with my family."

The 32-year-old fighting Mormon was cut and battered and drenched with his own blood Saturday before suffering a seventh-round TKO at the hands of champion Dick Tiger in Ibadan, Nigeria.

His wife, Delores, said in West Jordan shortly after the fight that she hoped Gene, a former champion, would call it quits. Mrs. Fullmer, who has refused to watch her husband fight, repeated that he had promised to retire if he failed to beat the Nigerian champion.

The fight, the first title bout ever held in Nigeria, was scheduled for 15 rounds but Marv Jensen, Fullmer's manager, asked that it be stopped at the end of the seventh when the bleeding Fullmer was virtually defenseless against Tiger's two-banded attack.

There were no knockdowns, but Fullmer was cut over the bridge of the nose and blinded in the later rounds by a freely bleeding cut over the right eye. His body was marked by angry, red welts and the bruises still showed on his face Sunday.

The British referee, the only official, declined to say how he had scored the fight but The Associated Press had Tiger winning every round.

The Nigerian government underwrote the bout, putting up $280,000 in guarantees. Fullmer was guaranteed $50,000 and $10,000. Expenses and Tiger $100,000.

The fight was the third between Tiger and Fullmer. Tiger lifted the title from Gene with a 15-round decision in San Francisco last year and they fought to a 15-round draw in Las Vegas earlier this year.

Mrs. Webb Is Ladies Champ at Hope Club

Mrs. Jack Webb won the Hope County Club Ladies' Golf tourney in an 18-hole final match play against Mrs. Jack Gardner. Mrs. Gardner has beaten Mrs. Cecil Delaney and Mrs. Webb won over Mrs. Boyette Powell of Lewisville in the semifinals.

In the first flight Mrs. Mitch LaGrone was the winner over Mrs. Lynn Harris in a 9-hole match. Mrs. Harris had beaten Mrs. Al Graves and Mrs. LaGrone reached the finals after a victory over Mrs. Emmett H. Wassell.

Mrs. Dick Watkins was the second flight winner with Mrs. Bob Parker the runnerup. Mrs. Watkins advanced by beating Mrs. Merly Monis and Mrs. Parker won over Mrs. Lex Helms in the semis. Eighteen played in the tourney.

East Stars Sweep Cage, Grid Games

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It is doubtful that East Arkansas ever will come up with another crop of super athletes to equal the teams that swept the Arkansas High School All-Star games Saturday.

The East won the football game 28-6 and the basketball game 79-63. Both were hands-down whitewashings and it is difficult to understand how one half of the state can have all the "hosses" in one year.

That's taking nothing away from the West, whose teams were average All-Star collections. But the names of East footballers Ronnie South of Russellville, Paul Becton of Little Rock Hall and Chuck Latourette of Jonesboro and East basketballers John Dickson of Jonesboro and Gary Washington of Paragould will be reverberating for a long time.

The only questions left to be answered are the outstanding player award in the basketball game and outstanding back and lineman awards in football. The Arkansas High School Coaches' Association will select them this week and make the announcements this weekend.

Becton probably will be the outstanding lineman. As an end and defensive halfback, the Baylor-bound high school All-American player ran 75 yards with a punt return for a touchdown, caught a 45-yard pass to set up another on the West one yard line, intercepted two passes and returned them 40 yards and deflected another West pass into the arms of a teammate.

The outstanding back probably will be South, an Arkansas Razorback-to-be, who passed 14 yards to Little Rock Central end Tommy Trantham for a touchdown, kicked four extra points, gained 22 yards rushing and hit on four out of four passes for 125 yards.

The most valuable player in the basketball game probably will be Dickson, Jonesboro's 6-9 post man with mile-long arms who will attend Arkansas State College. He scored 16 points and grabbed 10 rebounds despite the valiant defensive work of Harrison's 6-2 Paul Hill. Dickson scored two field goals and two free throws to give the East a 6-0 lead in the first three minutes, and the West never got control.

Coach Rip Powell, who left a successful program at Stamps to become track coach and football assistant at Southern State College this year, commented during All-Star workouts that "The funny thing about All-Star games is that the big heroes are the boys who haven't been doing much in practice and wind up on the second or third team."

Powell was prophetic. Becton missed four All-Star practices because of a shoulder separation and his American Legion baseball duties in the state tournament in Blytheville. He played on the third unit and got the East rolling with his 75-yard punt return for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Henry Wingard, Pine Bluff's all-state halfback who'll go to Arkansas A&M, likewise started on the third team but was the second leading ground-gainer with 47 yards. Latourette had 49. Wingard moved up to the first unit in the second half.

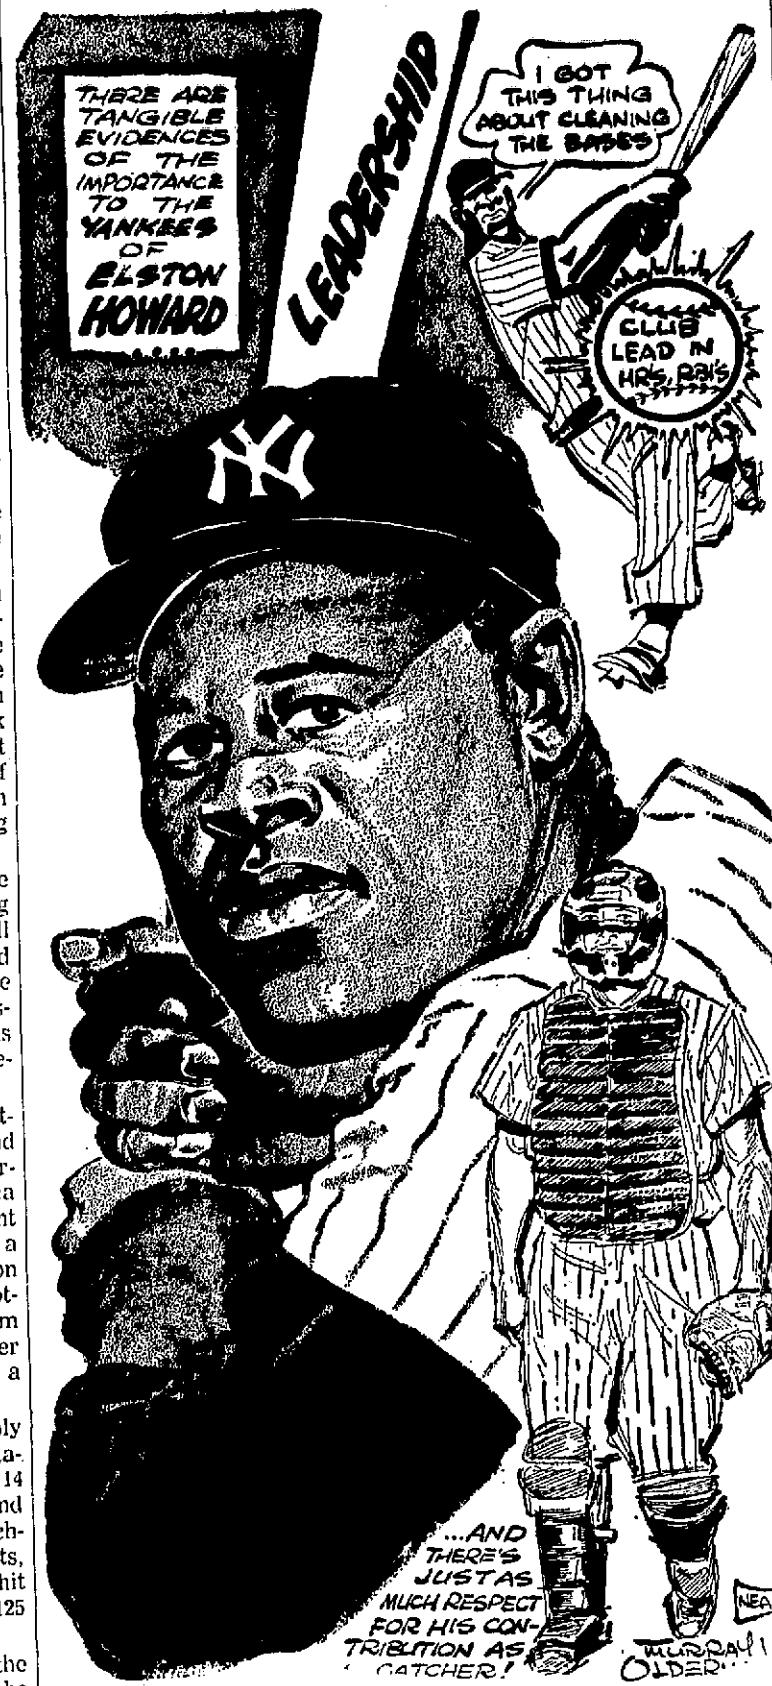

The East football team made two offensive plunges early in the game. The West's Lloyd Hamby of Fuller stopped the first one at the West eight and the other died when South missed a field goal attempt from the 20. Then came Becton's punt return touchdown in the second quarter. After that Wingard romped 25 yards to set up the 45-yard pass from Hall quarterback Johnny Darracott to Becton at the one. Darracott plunged for the score.

In the third quarter, South passed 14 yards to Trantham for a touchdown, then end Calvin Jones of Benton intercepted a West pass and returned it 38 yards to the two. His twin brother Alvin plunged for the last East score. The West never drove across the 40-yard line, and scored after Danville's Butch Wilson recovered an East fumble on the East 20. Quarterback Jim Jordan of Camden passed 16 yards to end Hamilton of Lonoke to the four. Then Jordan went in from the one for the touchdown.

South completed a 68-yard pass play to Trantham to the West seven in the closing seconds and the game ended with the East again knocking at the touchdown door. The East defensive standouts included tackles Tommy Sain of Jonesboro and Ernest Ruple of Conway. West standouts included halfbacks Alan Tollett of Nashville, who gained 36 yards and Elwood Brooks of Mineral Springs, who gained 21. ## CARRYING A BIG STICK

May Hitting, Giants Are Now Winning

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays is hitting and the Giants are winning. The National League story is as simple as that. With Willie still working on a 13-game hitting string, San Francisco has won 15 of its last 19. From 10 games back on July 20, the Giants now trail the Los Angeles Dodgers by only 3½ games with seven weeks to go.

The fellow who was quoting odds on a Dodger-Yankee World Series when the fight mob was in Las Vegas in late July must have revised his line. The Dodgers may win it but they are no "out" bet.

The front-line Dodger pitching faltered Sunday when Cincinnati knocked out Sandy Koufax in a six-run sixth inning en route to a 9-4 victory on 16 hits.

The Giants made it three in a row over the Phillies, 5-1, on a five-hitter by Jack Sanford with ninth-inning assist from Billy Hoelt and Don Larsen.

Jerry Lynch provided the heroics at Pittsburgh with a two-run homer that gave the Pirates a 2-1 edge over Houston. Hal Brody had a 1-0 lead with two out in the ninth. Then Roberto Clemente singled and Lynch hit his 10th home run.

Tony Cloninger turned in the top pitching job by striking out 11 St. Louis Cardinals while pitching a four-hitter for the Milwaukee Braves who beat Curt Simmons 9-1. Eddie Mathews hit a three-run homer for the Braves.

Dick Ellsworth won his 16th for the Chicago Cubs in the 8-1 opener but the new York Mets bounced back with a vengeance and clobbered the Cubs 11-4 for a split of their doubleheader.

In the American League the New York Yankees increased their lead to nine games by beating Los Angeles 6-4 in 10 innings while the second-place Chicago lost the first 7-2 to Detroit and won the second 3-2 in 11 innings. Minnesota won its sixth straight, 5-2, by handing Boston its ninth setback in a row. Cleveland edged Kansas City 2-1 and Baltimore beat Washington 6-2.

Chuck Miller drove in three runs for the Giants, two of them with a seventh-inning homer off John Bozzer, the relief man for loser Cal McLish. Mays' key double in the fifth opened up a 3-0 Giant lead.

Frank Robinson launched the big sixth-inning rally for Cincinnati with his 16th homer. Koufax, rolling along with a 4-1 lead at the start of the sixth, was the victim. Instead of his 19th victory Sandy had to settle for his fifth defeat. Jim O'Toole won his 15th with help from Al Worthington. Frank Howard and Tommy Davis homered for the Dodgers and Don Pavletich and Robinson for the Reds.

The word Choctaw means "flat-head", a name given to these people because of their custom of slightly flattening the skulls of babies.

Braves, struck out 11 Cardinals while pitching a four-hitter for eighth victory.
